CSU Trustee, California Business Roundtable Leader William Hauck
To Address Cal Poly Fall Conference Sept. 13

SAN LUIS OBISPO – California State University Trustee William Hauck will be the keynote speaker at the General Session of Cal Poly's Fall Conference Sept. 13 at the annual opening event for Cal Poly faculty and staff.

A longtime California policy leader, Hauck is president of the California Business Roundtable. He is also co-chair of the California Performance Review (CPR) Commission, appointed by Governor Schwarzenegger to conduct public hearings on the CPR's findings and recommendations.

Hauck will speak about the relationship between the CSU system and the California economy and workforce development. He will also discuss the CSU's role in fostering a healthy state economy that provides opportunity for all citizens.

Cal Poly President Warren J. Baker will also address faculty and staff regarding the university's priorities for the year.

Fall Conference also includes recognition for Cal Poly's distinguished teachers, the university's outstanding faculty advisor and outstanding staff members. For the first time, the conference will include a new award recognizing faculty achievements in research, creative activity and professional development.

The General Session kicks off a week of meetings, seminars and orientation for faculty.

The event is not open to the general public, but media wishing to cover Hauck's address, President Baker's remarks or other portions of Fall Conference are welcome.
